Who Are We?

- At European level Digestive Cancers Europe (DiCE) represents the digestive cancer patient community diagnosed with cancer of the oesophagus, stomach, pancreas, colon, rectum, liver and other more rare digestive cancers
- We represent the 900,000 people who get a diagnosis of digestive cancer every year in Europe, as well as the 1.5 million digestive cancer survivors.
- We represent the families of the 600,000 patients who die every year from digestive cancers.

Number of New Cases per Year & Number of Deaths per Year in Europe by Type of Digestive Cancer

Our value framework

- We support patients, carers and the patient community at national and regional level
- We bring value to patients, the healthcare community and society in every activity related to the well-being of patients and their families

European Union recommendations

- In 2003 all Ministers of Health of the European Union committed to having population-based colorectal cancer screening programmes for all citizens aged 50 to 74
- The European Commission's Guidelines for Quality Assurance in Colorectal Cancer Screening, specify the desired colorectal cancer screening participation rate to be higher than 65% of the target population

Best practices in CRC Screening

Based on the double criteria of screening all citizens 50-74 years old with more than 65% participation, only Slovenia achieves the target

Cyprus: Out of the 30% (29.6) response rate in the the target group of 50-69 years, 10% (9.7) tested positive and 84% proceeded and had a colonoscopy.

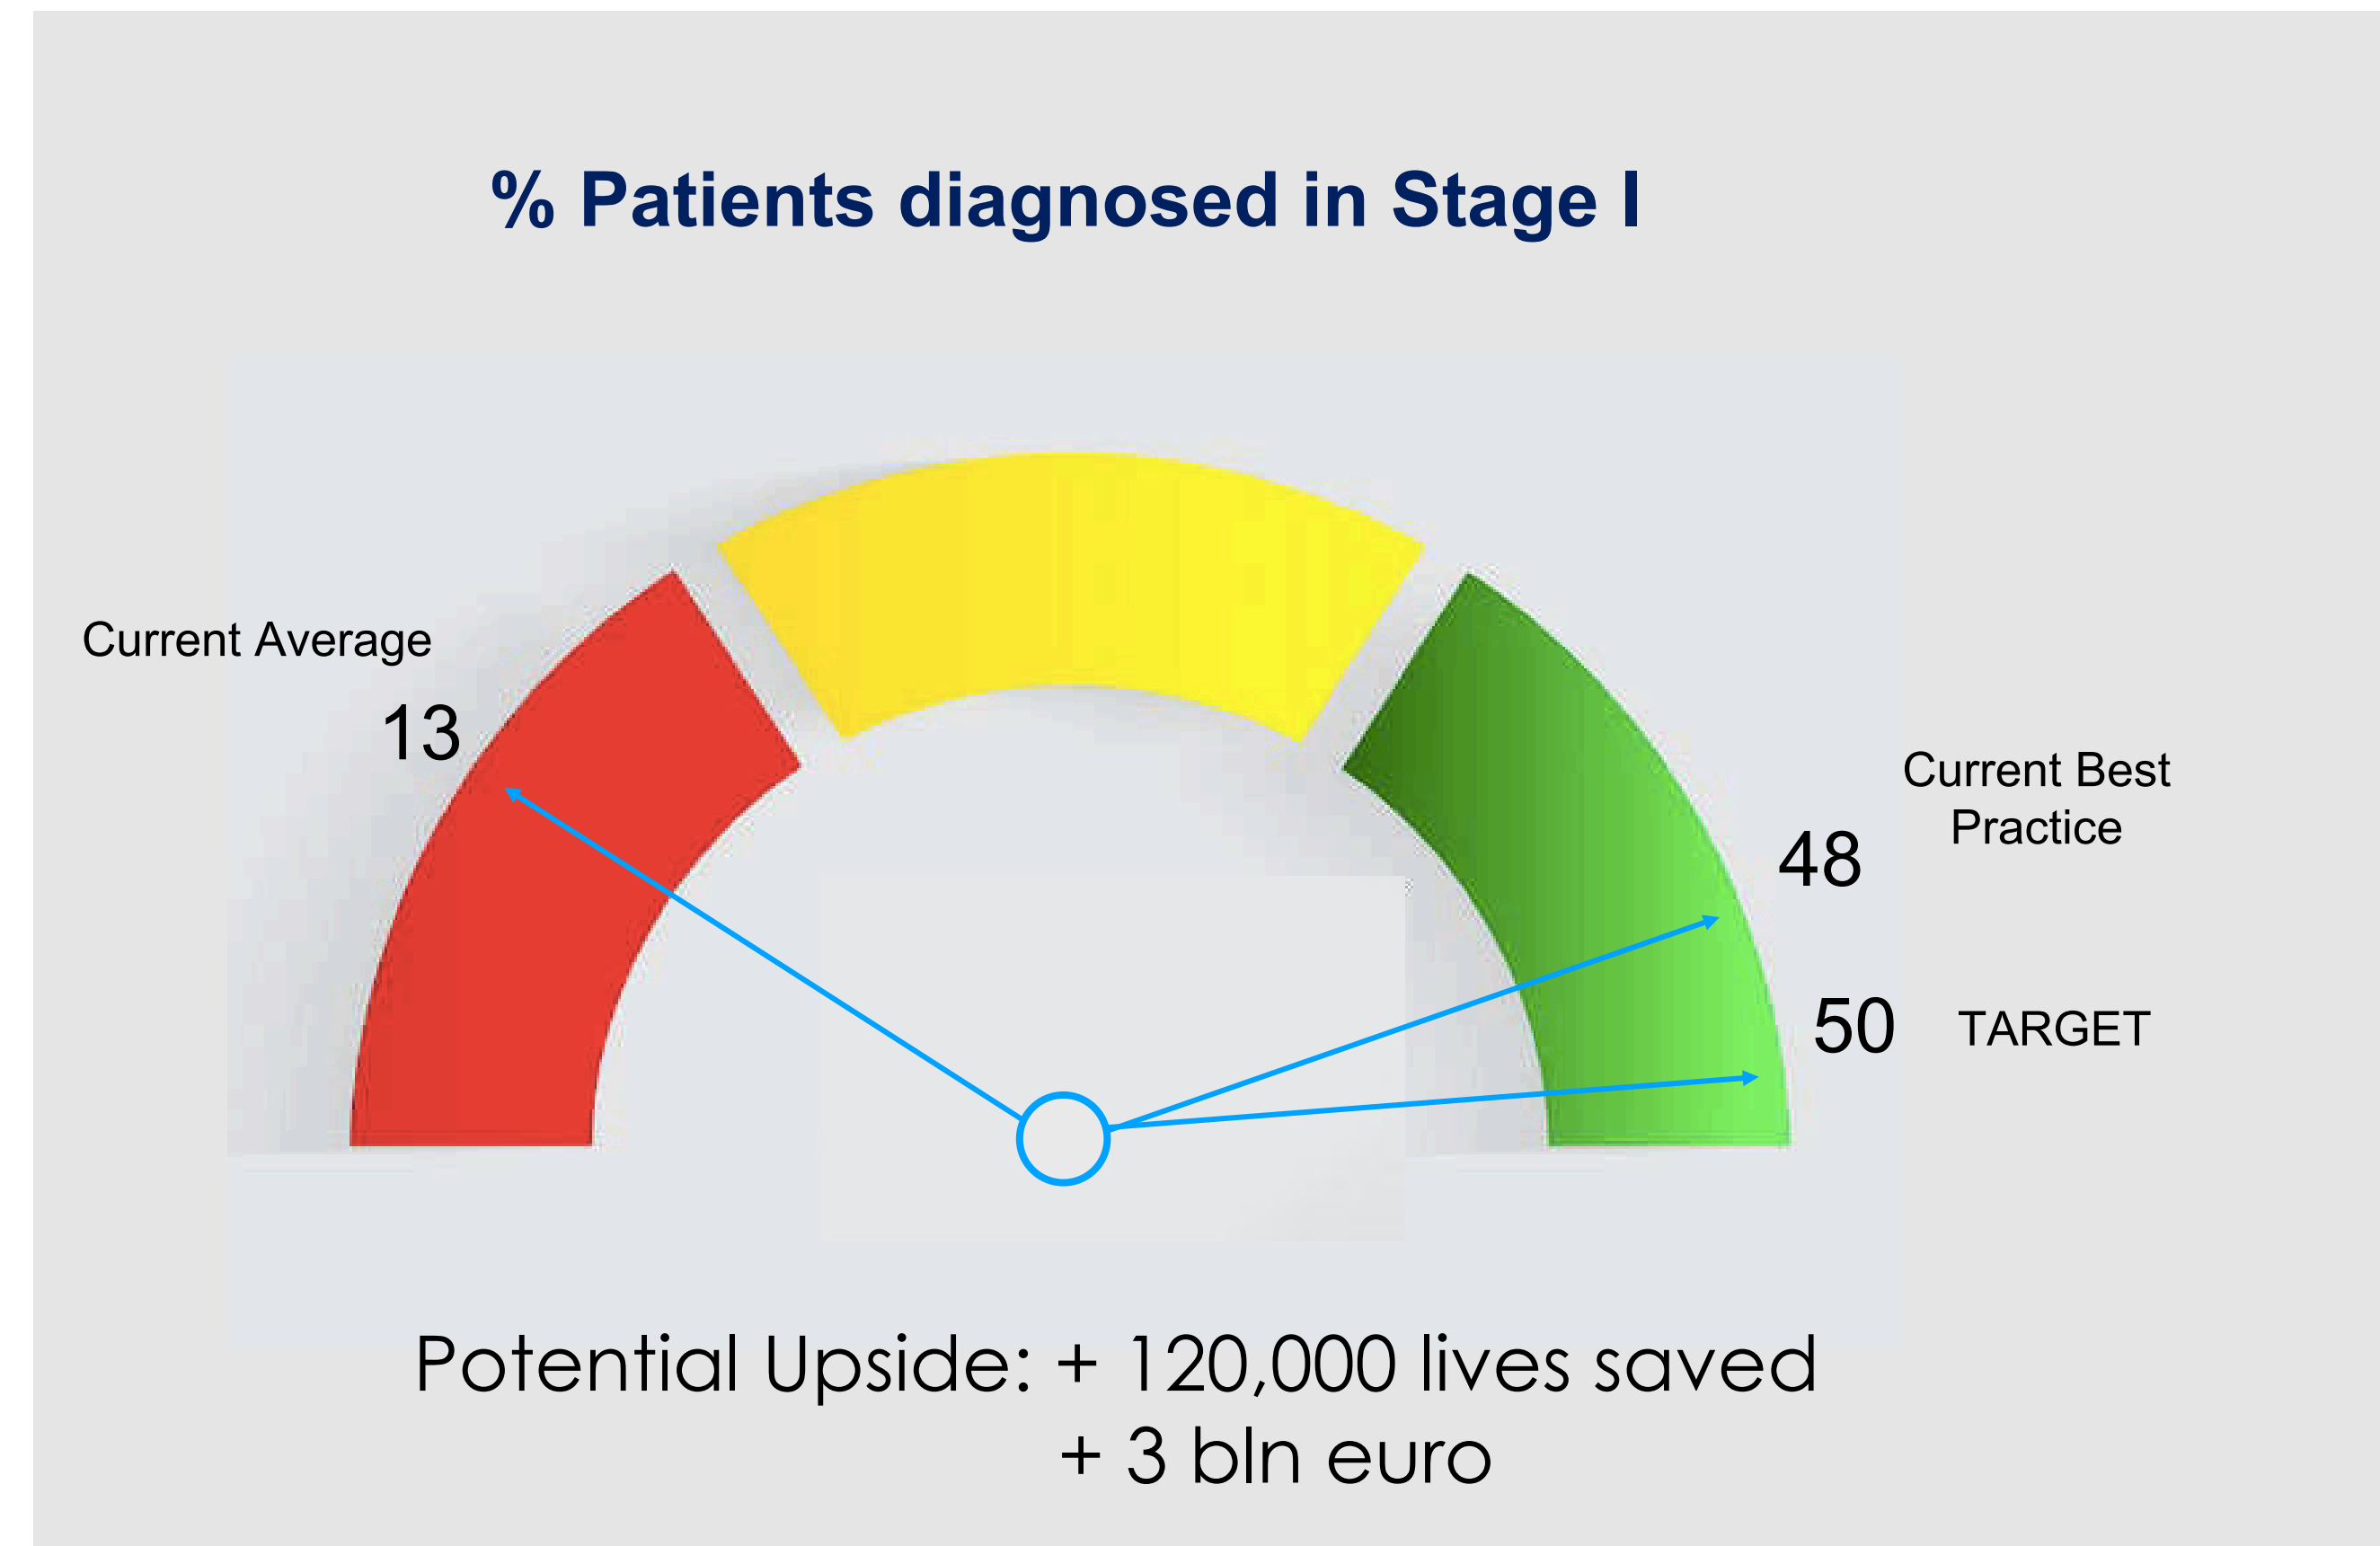

Many countries have no data
